MAKE YOUR HOME SOMETHING TO BE PROUD OF

Why wait until you sell to add new life to your home?

We've heard it all before. Stage your home to sell it. Touch up to get the price up. How many homeowners finally complete their to-do list when selling, only to give their home into someone else's hands? Why not improve your home while you can still enjoy it? Here are few projects that are worth tackling now:

Colour My World

Maybe you've tolerated the old, tired paint so long that you've stopped noticing how much it drags down the overall feel of your home. You may be telling yourself it isn't worth it to invest the money and effort into repainting. But don't underestimate what a transcendent difference fresh paint can make to ambience. Do yourself a favour and make a trip to your local hardware store where you can begin to picture and enact the vibrant new colour scheme that will revitalize your home.

Fix it Now

With the exception of a brand-new home, nearly all houses have those quirky issues that have become easy to ignore in the hustle and bustle of life. Whether it's leaky faucets, doors that don't quite close or window handles that stick, we often learn to adapt and tolerate instead of making repair a priority. The summer is a great time to finally deal with these odd jobs. The peace of mind and satisfaction you will gain are more than worth it.

Outdoor Pride

Nothing brings out the droves of relatives and friends like summer in the Okanagan. Before your next guest arrives, take some time to deal with those outdoor issues that you've been letting go. Trim back those trees and bushes, re-stain the deck or fix those sidewalk cracks. Add in a few features or plants that you've been dreaming of to make your yard a place you can show off with pride.
